This recovery gear will help you power through any situation

SNATCH STRAP

Snatch straps are one of the original components of 4WD recovery gear, and one of the most vital. By using the elasticity in the strap, most situations can be recovered from, as long as you know how to snatch correctly.

The unit that Powerful 4X4 offers is well made to ensure it doesn't fail on you in the middle of the bush. The company also offers a range of extension straps and chains, which are great if you need a bit of extra length to make that winch point or to move a fallen tree out of the way.

↓ BULLBAR WITH RECOVERY POINTS

Bullbars play a big part in recovering your vehicle. The bullbars that Powerful 4X4 offer are manufactured from high-tensile steel and rated to carry a winch that pulls up to 15,000lb. Powerful 4X4 has also taken the guesswork out of where to snatch from by including chassis-mounted hitch points on both sides of the bar.

The hitch is also designed to use when moving your camper trailer and has a skid plate to keep your underbody protected.

Recovery-capable bullbars are vital to ensure you have a solid point to winch from

↓ TOW HITCH RECOVERY UNIT

Sometimes it's just not possible to get across whatever terrain you're stuck in, and in these cases, rear recovery points are your best mate. Powerful 4X4 offers a unit that mounts on your towbar in place of the tongue, and gives you a great spot to snatch from in a reverse situation.

Rated to cope with a full snatch load, you can rest assured knowing that you won't have any dramas next time you go to get your 4WD out of the muck.
